

DM publications now available from NIDMAR

NIDMAR resources provide an economical way to tap into disability management and return to work expertise and research. The latest resource materials, available in both English and French, are full of information indispensable to disability management professionals and return to work coordinators in any jurisdiction.

Disability Management Success: A global corporate perspective
2005, 80 pp, ISBN 0-9738181-0-7
$36.00 Canadian

In this publication, you will find a global overview of disability and disability management in the first decade of the 21st century. This gives context for understanding the need and value of implementing an effective workplace-based disability management program in order to compete successfully in the exploding global economy. The publication presents two quite different case studies of global companies that exemplify what it takes to implement an effective, comprehensive program, and shows how this investment can pay off.

Code of Practice for Disability Management, 2nd edition
2004, 53 pp, ISBN 0-9687859-7-2
$20.00 Canadian

The Code of Practice was designed to provide a framework within which employers, unions, legislators, insurers and providers can work together for successful disability management outcomes. The second edition of the Code was created specifically to integrate Canada's legislative framework, include significant international developments, and integrate new successful practices.

Challenges in Disability Management: A Resource Manual for Return to Work Practitioners
2004, 106 pp, ISBN 0-9687859-3-X
Price : $42.00 Canadian

This manual is a resource that return to work practitioners can use in conjunction with basic texts or other handbooks on disability management. In Part I, it discusses some disabling conditions that present particular challenges to the practitioner. In Part II, it offers approaches to handling some challenging areas of practice related to many workers or to particular work settings. As well, the manual provides a list of resources where return to work practitioners are encouraged to continue their own research.

All these materials may be ordered from NIDMAR's secure website at www.nidmar.ca. The site also offers more complete descriptions of the contents of these three NIDMAR publications in both French and English. For more information, contact NIDMAR by e-mail at sales@nidmar.ca, or by phone at 250-386-4388, ext. 224. ■